FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of transcription 1/14/2016

(U//~~FOUO~~) On January 11, 2016, MONICA HANLEY was interviewed by Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Special Agents [redacted] and [redacted] at [redacted] Washington, DC 20001. Representing HANLEY, and also present for the interview, were [redacted] and [redacted]. After being advised of the identities of the interviewing agents, and the purpose of the interview, HANLEY provided the following information:

(U//~~FOUO~~) In 2003, following her college graduation, HANLEY interned for then Senator HILLARY CLINTON. HANLEY's internship position was converted to a permanent position in 2004. HANLEY continued working for New York Senator KIRSTEN GILLIBRAND, who was appointed after CLINTON was nominated as Secretary of State.

(U//~~FOUO~~) In April of 2009, HANLEY received a call from HUMA ABEDIN asking if HANLEY would be interested in working for CLINTON as a "Confidential Assistant" at the Department of State (DoS). HANLEY accepted the position at DoS, and continued working for GILLIBRAND until two days before her start at DoS.

(U//~~FOUO~~) During her first year at DoS, HANLEY's "Confidential Assistant" duties included supporting and scheduling CLINTON, domestic travel and personal appointments. HANLEY also ran various errands for CLINTON. HANLEY also served as ABEDIN and JAKE SULLIVAN's scheduler, and it was her responsibility to coordinate their schedules with CLINTON's schedule.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY accompanied CLINTON on foreign travel on a few occasions during her first year at DoS. HANLEY's first overseas DoS travel with CLINTON was to the Philippines. CLINTON specifically invited HANLEY to join her on that trip because CLINTON knew HANLEY was of Filipino decent and would appreciate the opportunity to travel there. ABEDIN almost always traveled with CLINTON. [redacted] and [redacted] were additional aids who rotated duties with HANLEY in regards to accompanying CLINTON on foreign travel.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY went through a full day of on board training her first day at DoS, of which approximately half was security related. HANLEY recalled learning specifically how to handle and transport classified information/paper, but could not recall who provided the training. HANLEY received a Top Secret/SCI clearance at DoS, but was unsure of any specific codeword programs for which she may have additionally received read-ins. HANLEY did not hold a security clearance prior to DoS.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY did not recall ever receiving Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) training, and the only training HANLEY received concerning the Federal Records Act (FRA) came near the end of CLINTON's tenure at DoS. A representative from DoS's record keeping office, [REDACTED] Last Name Unknown (LNU), met with HANLEY and others on CLINTON's staff and instructed them to produce all records that "changed, effected, or created policy." HANLEY recalled going through paper files with other executive Staff members, and placing the papers in stacks in the hallway outside the Secretary's Suite. After which, a DoS record keeper would review the production and make the final determination on which information was relevant to the FRA.

Email Accounts and Server

(U//~~FOUO~~) During her time in the Senate, CLINTON used hr15@att.blackberry.net. HANLEY was aware of this email account, but did not use this account to communicate with CLINTON.

(U//~~FOUO~~) CLINTON used hrod17@clintonemail.com while she was Secretary of State, and hdr22@clintonemail.com following her departure from DoS.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY did not initially recall the account [REDACTED]@gmail.com, however, later in the interview HANLEY deduced the [REDACTED]@gmail.com account may have been created as a way to communicate with CLINTON during a bad storm in 2011 when power to the server hosting hdr22@clintonemail.com was lost. HANLEY believed CLINTON was traveling in Croatia at the time, and HANLEY and [REDACTED] may have created the account as a temporary way to communicate with CLINTON during the outage.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY was not familiar with the email address SSHRC@state.gov. HANLEY vaguely recalled CLINTON being issued a DoS Blackberry, but CLINTON did not use the DoS issued device.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY was aware CLINTON was using a personal email address on a personal server for DoS business while CLINTON was Secretary of State. JUSTIN COOPER created, installed, and maintained the server in Chappaqua before the server was transitioned over to Platte River Networks (PRN). HANLEY could not recall when the transition to PRN occurred. COOPER was HANLEY's point of contact for assistance in regards to syncing CLINTON's mobile devices to the server. Anytime CLINTON got a new device, HANLEY would contact COOPER who would troubleshoot her through the process of setting up the new device with the server. COOPER was also HANLEY's point of contact when needed reimbursment for items she purchased for CLINTON. COOPER was located in New York, so most of HANLEY's interaction with him was via email or telephone.

(U//~~FOUO~~) BRYAN PAGLIANO was part of CLINTON's 2008 Presidential Campaign and was later employed by DoS in a technical capacity. HANLEY would contact PAGLIANO for help with physical Blackberry problems.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY did not recall ever participating in, or overhearing, any discussion over records retention issues, nor the legality of CLINTON conducting DoS business off a private server or email account.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY was asked to review a few emails forwarded from CLINTON at hrod17@clintonemail.com to HANLEY's DoS email account wherein CLINTON asks HANLEY to print the forwarded email. After reviewing the email, HANLEY explained CLINTON did not like reading things on her Blackberry because it was difficult to read the small font, so she preferred a hard copy for longer emails. Sometimes CLINTON would keep the hard copy to archive the document, but HANLEY was not privy to what documents CLINTON had printed for an easier read versus archiving.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY used two email accounts while at DoS: hanleymr@state.gov and [REDACTED]@gmail.com. HANLEY did not have an @clintonemail.com email account, nor was she ever offered an @clintonemail.com account. As a way of general practice, HANLEY tried her best to use her state.gov email account for work related matters and her Gmail account for personal interactions with CLINTON. HANLEY further explained she considered personal interactions with CLINTON to include things like scheduling hair appointments. However, HANLEY noted that her state.gov email account was not as easily accessible as her Gmail account and on some occasions she use Gmail when she could not access her state.gov account.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY was issued and carried/used a DoS Blackberry. It was difficult to access DoS email while on travel, as the DoS system required users to sign in using a token/key to sign in remotely. It was particularly difficult to sign into the DoS system in the Secretary's plane because the wifi was not always compatible, so HANLEY would often use her Gmail account while in the air. The same was true for foreign travel. Many DoS employees used personal email accounts because they were more easily accessible. ABEDIN emailed HANLEY equally from her state.gov and personal accounts.

Mobile Devices

(U//~~FOUO~~) After she reviewed pictures of various Blackberry models, HANLEY pointed to the picture of the Curve 8310 explained CLINTON preferred the Curve 8310 because she found the 8310 "track-ball" feature easier than the "track-pad" on newer Blackberry models. CLINTON tried the Blackberry 8700G, but did not like the device because of the "track-pad." HANLEY also thought the Curve 8900 looked familiar. HANLEY did not recall the specific Blackberry devices CLINTON used at DoS, but believed CLINTON's original Blackberry was black in color and housed in a blue silicone case.

Continuation of FD-302 of Interview of Monica Hanley, On 1/11/2016, Page 4

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY recalled helping CLINTON change her Blackberry device at least three or four times while she was at DoS. HANLEY recalled having to replace CLINTON's Blackberry on one occasion after CLINTON spilled coffee on the device. Another time HANLEY recalled having to replace CLINTON's Blackberry because it started to slowly fail overtime. HANLEY recalled proactively trying to purchase replacement Blackberrys for CLINTON at one point, but CLINTON only liked the older models. HANLEY believed she may have even purchased one of the older Blackberry models CLINTON liked off of Ebay.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY would contact COOPER after purchasing a new Blackberry device for CLINTON, and he would instruct HANLEY as to how to connect the device and sync the device with CLINTON's server and email. Once the new device was properly synced, COOPER would also talk HANLEY through the process of wiping the old device. HANLEY would provide the new Blackberry to CLINTON along with the old/wiped Blackberry. However, HANLEY was not sure what CLINTON did with the old Blackberry after HANLEY turned them over.

(U//~~FOUO~~) Aside from receiving emails on her Blackberry, CLINTON used her Blackberry to text and pin short personal messages.

(U//~~FOUO~~) CLINTON also used an iPad. HANLEY could not recall when CLINTON obtained the iPad, but thought it may have been purchased by COOPER. HANLEY was not sure who configured CLINTON's iPad. CLINTON predominately used the iPad in the evenings and while on travel (both domestic and international) for reading news articles and emails. CLINTON did use the iPad to send and receive emails. CLINTON did not use the iPad while she was in her office at DoS.

(U//~~FOUO~~) ABEDIN, HANLEY, and [ ] had access to CLINTON's iPad on occasion to assist CLINTON if her iPad was not working properly, but HANLEY could not recall CLINTON giving her iPad to anybody else to use.

(U//~~FOUO~~) CLINTON received a new iPad in 2011 and gave HANLEY an iPad around the same time. HANLEY assumed CLINTON gifted her with CLINTON's old iPad. Agents asked HANLEY to review an email exchange dated 8/18/2011 between ABEDIN and COOPER in which ABEDIN tells COOPER "She [presumably CLINTON] doesn't like ipad 2..." and later typed "She gave to monica as a birthday gift." After reviewing the email, HANLEY explained that she assumed she received CLINTON's old iPad, but now realizes she likely received CLINTON's newer iPad. HANLEY was not aware the iPad was a birthday gift, but stated that it was not uncommon for CLINTON to gift ABEDIN and HANLEY with some of her personal items she no longer wanted.

(U//~~FOUO~~) When HANLEY received the iPad the opening screen said "H's iPad," so before using the gifted iPad, HANLEY wiped the device. HANLEY used the iPad for personal use up until the time she moved back to New York in 2014. Prior to moving, HANLEY gave the iPad to [ ]

[redacted] so he could use the iPad to listen to music and podcasts. HANLEY did not wipe the iPad prior to gifting it to [redacted]

(U//~~FOUO~~) In October of 2013, HANLEY received a call from CHERYL MILLS who inquired about the iPad. HANLEY explained she received what she believed was CLINTON's old iPad as a gift from CLINTON in 2011. MILLS subsequently informed HANLEY she needed to turn over the iPad in response to the FBI's investigation. HANLEY contacted [redacted] to retrieve the iPad and turned it over.

Laptop Computer

(U//~~FOUO~~) After they learned longtime friend of CLINTON, SIDNEY BLUMENTHAL, was the target of an email hack in Spring of 2013, PRN spoke with COOPER, ABEDIN, and HANLEY, and advised CLINTON change email addresses. CLINTON did not want to lose her old emails when she changed her email address. COOPER subsequently provided HANLEY an extra Apple Macbook from President Clinton's Harlem, NY, Office. HANLEY then transferred all of CLINTON's old emails from the PRN server to the Macbook Air. HANLEY transferred the emails to the Macbook in her [redacted] apartment, and noted that it took several days because she transferred four years of emails. HANLEY also recalled transferring the emails to a thumb-drive, but could not recall what happened to the thumb-drive.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY maintained possession of the Macbook following the transfer of the emails. The Macbook was stored in HANLEY's apartment. HANLEY moved at least once after she transferred the emails to the Macbook, and brought the Macbook with her to her new apartment.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY continued to work for CLINTON following DoS, and in early 2014 took a position in the [redacted]. Shortly thereafter, HANLEY realized she still had possession of the Macbook containing CLINTON's archived emails. HANLEY subsequently contacted PRN on her own accord and spoke with [redacted] and [redacted]. HANLEY shipped the Macbook to [redacted] in [redacted] in February and instructed PRN to migrate the emails back to CLINTON's existing server, wipe the Macbook, and return the Macbook to [redacted] who was CLINTON's [redacted] at the time.

(U//~~FOUO~~) The Macbook was shipped from [redacted]

b6

(U//~~FOUO~~) When HANLEY was first contacted by FBI agents in November 2015 in regards scheduling an interview, she reached out to [redacted] to ask about the whereabouts of the Macbook. [redacted] told HANLEY she did not recall receiving the Macbook from PRN.

Continuation of FD-302 of Interview of Monica Hanley, On 1/11/2016, Page 6Handling of Classified Material

(U//~~FOUO~~) CLINTON did not have a classified DoS account, and received all classified information in paper form. CLINTON's Executive Assistant, JOE McMANUS, was responsible for determining what classified information needed to be passed up to CLINTON. The Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) Presidential Daily Briefer (PDB) on occasion may have also flagged information for CLINTON to read. When CLINTON was on travel, her traveling Executive Assistant or SULLIVAN would determine what classified information needed CLINTON's attention.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY visited both CLINTON's Chappaqua, NY, and Washington, DC, residences, however, HANLEY spent more time in CLINTON's Washington, DC, home. HANLEY believed CLINTON had a Sensitive Information Compartmented Facility (SCIF) installed on [ ] floor of her Chappaqua home that contained at least a secure phone and fax. CLINTON also had a SCIF in her DC home. HANLEY believed the DC SCIF contained a secure phone and unclassified Mac desktop, but was not sure about a fax machine.

b7c

(U//~~FOUO~~) When the DoS Operations Center needed to get classified material to CLINTON at her DC residence, the information would be couriered by her security detail in a diplomatic pouch. Only a few people close to CLINTON, such as HANLEY could deliver the diplomatic pouch directly to her. HANLEY assumed CLINTON's [ ] in Chappaqua, [ ] could also accept and deliver diplomatic pouches.

(U//~~FOUO~~) A DoS Mobile Communications Team (MCT) traveled with CLINTON on both international and domestic trips. The MCT was responsible for setting up a command post for CLINTON's team. Depending on the security climate at the destination, the mobile command post would [ ] b1 per DOS [ ] by CLINTON or her designated staff. The MCT generally set up an unclassified DoS computer in either ABEDIN or HANLEY's room for the purpose of printing unclassified information for CLINTON. It was not uncommon for HANLEY to use her personal Gmail account to print from the mobile DoS unclassified terminal because even though she was using a DoS computer, the DoS connection was unreliable.

(U//~~FOUO~~) CLINTON had a secure phone in her office at DoS, as well as in both her Washington, DC, and Chappaqua, NY, residences. When CLINTON was traveling, ABEDIN would generally carry a secure cell phone. HANLEY carried the secure phone on occasion, and described the phone as looking like an old Nokia non-flip phone with a big antenna and large buttons. The secure cell phone was carried in a box. ABEDIN kept a secure cell phone in her desk at DoS.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY received a lesson from somebody on the DoS technical team in regards to using the secure cell phone, but when HANLEY tried to use the secure cell phone in 2012 on a trip to Haiti, it did not work.

Continuation of FD-302 of Interview of Monica Hanley, On 1/11/2016, Page 7Email Review

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY was contacted by CLINTON's attorney, DAVID KENDALL (Williams & Connolly), in March or April of 2015. Following her conversation with KENDALL, HANLEY searched the Gmail account she used while at DoS for any email communications with state.gov accounts and deleted emails associated with state.gov accounts. HANLEY was not involved with any efforts to review and cull CLINTON's emails.

General Security Matters

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY never personally was notified of an intrusion attempt against any of her email accounts (personal or Gmail), however, she remembered hearing some state email accounts were hacked by presumably the Chinese Government following one of CLINTON's trips to China.

(U//~~FOUO~~) HANLEY also received verbal security counseling from Diplomatic Security (DS) following a Russia trip on which she accompanied CLINTON. HANLEY was handed a diplomatic pouch containing CLINTON's briefing book on the plane upon arriving in Russia. HANLEY brought the pouch and its contents into the Russian hotel suite she shared with CLINTON. DS found a classified document from the briefing book in the suite during a sweep following CLINTON and HANLEY's departure, and HANLEY was later informed by DS the briefing book and document should never have been in the suite.
